

Linking OMR Regions on Different Pages

Article Number: 141 | Rating: Unrated | Last Updated: Thu, Aug 7, 2014 at 1:27 PM

You cannot link questions together that are on different pages of your form. We recommend placing all of the answer choices to a given question on the same page. If you already have a form that is in use and the answers are on two different pages, you may be able to use the Boolean OMR region type. This OMR region type treats each answer choice as its own question. Therefore, the answers aren't really "linked" to the question. Instead, each answer choice is an individual cell in your data.
